Jonathan Hope organist/director

Jonathan Hope was born in 1988. Educated at George Abbot School in Guildford, his teachers included Stephen Lacey and John Belcher, before he moved to study at the Royal College of Music in 2007, where he currently studies with Margaret Phillips and Sophie-Veronique Chauchefeur-Choplin (improvisation).

He has performed in venues across Britain, Europe and the USA, where recent performances have included Freiburg Cathedral (Germany), Christchurch Priory, Brentwood Cathedral and a performance of Stockhausen's Trans with the Royal College of Music Orchestra in London's Southbank Centre. Plans for 2009-10 include performances in Chicago, New York City and Canterbury Cathedral.

Since May 2008, Jonathan has been Director of Music and Organist at John Keble Church, Mill Hill in the north-west of London. In his spare time, Jonathan enjoys literature, real ale and football.

Jonathan's partner is Australian soprano Allegra Giagu.
